

Diana Ross, Jeopardy will be live at CES 2009

I'll be reporting live again in January from CES 2009, the world's biggest (and that means HUGE) and most influential Consumer Electronics Show. The reports will mostly be over at Technology Report, my new technology blog project with a good friend of mine from California.

Pictured below is Noel Lee of Monster Cable, one of the music industry's key players and host of one of CES hottest party tickets - the Monster Party. Last year Mary J Blige gave an awesome concert after the Monster Retailer awards.

Jeopardy will be filming at CES as well, with 11 shows scheduled to be taped during the week of CES. One of the challenges of an event this large is that you simply cannot see everything - there are thousands of exhibitors and events and sessions and the venue is so large it takes up all of the Las Vegas Convention Center and most of the Sands Convention Center.
