

(Part Two)

Then (I will never forget this moment), she looked to us and gave us a signal to come to the stage. Andreas thought he was meant and ran on the stage.

I was very moved, because this was our dream to dance with her and now he had the chance to do it.

When he came down from stage, she looked at me and gave me a signal too, to come up. So I went on and danced with her. She was standing in front of me and danced and smiled at me. Then she hugged me (of course she hugged Andreas too) and said : “ You dance very good. Thanks for being here and I love you Honey”. I was blown away....

Very often she came in front of us and looked and danced with us. For those, who have seen her in concert, you know when she is looking at you, her eyes are talking....

We shown up some new banners and she was laughing again.

We stayed the night in Berlin. On Wednesday I flew back early in the morning to Cologne, to pick up my car. Then I drove to Hamburg, which was about 300 miles away. Andreas went by car with friends and we were in Hamburg at 3.00 pm.

We met again at the stage entrance at the venue and we checked, if Miss Ross has to get out of the car or will she drive in the hall (like Berlin). We talked again to Fred White.

At 4.15 pm Miss Ross arrived in a Mercedes limousine. She got out of the car and went to the stage entrance. There were only a few people. She signed some fotos for us and we talked with her for a short while.

We thanked her for dancing the last night with us and she smiled and said : “ I loved it”... Then she went in the venue.

They changed to Concert from Saal 1 to Saal 2.

There, they've had a different seating plan and there was a lot of trouble for changing the cards. We already had our tickets and went to the front row. Friends from the USA and the Netherlands (we got the tickets for them) were there too.

This venue was fantastic. The stage was not very high and it was maximum 1 meter away from us.... We had a very good view and took a lot of pictures.

Miss Ross danced with us and when she sang “I'm still waiting”, she wanted Andreas and me to sing with her... She hold the microphone to us and said:” Come on and sing”.

Well, at this time Andreas and me turned pale.... We didn't want to sing in the mic....

We said to her, it's no good idea to let us sing in the mic.....She laughed at us. It was a funny situation.

At the end of the concert we had a little card for her. She took it on stage at the end and hold it to her heart. She left the Stage and came back always the card in her hand. She looked at us point at the card and blew some kisses to us.

After the concert we went to the stage entrance. There were a lot of people who waited for her. The limousine was standing right in front of the doors. When she appeared, the crowd went very crazy. A few of them wanted to touch her. I think, she was very scared of the crowd. The 2 Bodyguards had a lot to do to protect her from those guys.

She got in the car and was accompanied by a woman and a man and the 2 Bodyguards.
